Campbell Grange Supports Future American Farmers

Members of the Orchard City Grange pledged their support to the Future Farmers of America, a high school agricultural organization, at the regular meeting of the Grange Tuesday night.

Fred E. Long, teachers of vocational education at the high school, appeared before the members during the lecture hour to explain the nature and activities of the organization. The Future Farmers, he said, are much like the 4-H clubs, but include only boys in high school. The club furnishes training in home activities, social activities, thrift, and cooperative activities. Its members take part in state and national judging and feeding contests, of which the Fat Live Stock show in San Francisco is one.

As part of the lecturer's hour Tuesday Horace Keesling read a letter from the state department of adult education, advising citizens to resist propaganda against adult education.

That the Grange should continue to use Odd Fellows' hall as a meeting place was voted by the members Tuesday. The housing investigating committee, consisting of the executive committee and H. M. Shadle, which examined the various meeting facilities in Campbell, had advised such procedure.

Opinions on the majority rule form of cooperation were given by S. N. Hedegard, Harry Barnes, Lawrence Hendricks, Horace Keesling, and Stanley B. Smith.

The necessity of controlling the prune beetle and of burning affected trees was stressed by George Husted. Werner Raab stated that reports should be made to the horticulture commission of violators of the law asking that beetles be controlled.

W. R. Coupland made a report of Campbell's success in the Community Chest drive.

COUNTRY WOMEN DISCUSS AMERICA'S GREATEST WOMEN

A topic of special interest to women was the one discussed at Monday's meeting of the Country Woman's club, "America's Twelve Greatest Women," as presented in a series of articles in the Good Housekeeping magazine.

Mrs. L. F. Shaw, chairman, was unable to be present on account of illness, but her part of the program was presented by Mrs. D. H. Cramer and Mrs. Harry C. Smith.

The four women whose careers Mrs. Laura Foster outlined were Jane Adams, Carrie Chapman Catt, Helen Keller, and Martha Berry, founder of the Berry schools in Georgia.

Mrs. H. P. Bean's group included Schumann-Heink, Grace Abbott, Minnie Madern Fiske, and Dr. Florence R. Sabin.

Mrs. Cramer told of Mary E. Woolley, renowned president of Mt. Holyoke college, and Grace Coolidge.

Mrs. Smith described Willa Cather and Cecilia Bowe, portrait painter.

Miss Jessie Lewis reported the county federation meeting which she and Mrs. Smith attended at Los Gatos recently.

The card party to be held at the We and Our Neighbors clubhouse, Union district, Saturday, by the combined county clubs for the benefit of the student loan fund was again announced.

CHAPTER "FUTURE FARMERS" FORMED AT CAMPBELL HIGH

A chapter of the Future Farmers of America, national organization, has been formed at the local high school under the leadership of Fred E. Long, agricultural instructor.

Joe Roscigno has been elected president with Ali Bianco, vice-president; Bill Halley, secretary; Henry Kuraski, treasurer, and Mr. Long, advisor.

An over-night hike to Santa Cruz constituted the first activity of the club. Led by Mr. Long, John Hobe, Ignacius Turturici, Tony Belardi, Joe Mancuso, Al Bianco, Alfred Drake, Walter Amstutz, Vernon Scott, Albert Mancuso, Charles Moroni, and Norman Husted, made the hike.

The organization, which is similar to the 4-H club, but includes only boys in high school, includes among its activities training in farm management, in cooperative activities, in saving and earning money, and in social arts.

Campbell Voters Favor Old Regime; Uphold Wright Act

Citizens of Campbell did not vote exactly as did the rest of the residents of Santa Clara county, or of California, or of the nation. In fact, Campbell citizens showed themselves better satisfied with the present regime and less prone to take any change which offered itself than were their neighbors.

President Hoover received a majority of votes in the Campbell township, which included the Hamilton district, receiving 547 to 495 given Roosevelt. Thomas received 39 votes in Campbell and Upshaw 7 votes.

In contrast, Santa Clara county as a whole gave Roosevelt the majority, 27,893 votes as against Hoover's 26,856 votes. Thomas received 1,467 votes in the county and Upshaw 304.

The senatorial vote in Campbell was quite unusual, since Shuler received the majority, 379 votes. McAdoo garnered 347 votes and Tubbs 316. In the county, on the other hand, Tubbs won out, with 21,325 votes, while McAdoo received 19,912 and Shuler 13,733. In the state McAdoo received the majority.

Campbell citizens voiced a preference for Free, giving him 512 votes to McGrath's 483, while the county elected McGrath with 28,581 votes, as against Free's 24,312.

In the race for the superior judgeship Jenkins overwhelmed Brown in Campbell, receiving 601 votes while Brown received but 430. However, in the county the two ran neck and neck, with the outcome doubtful until absent voters' ballots are counted the 15th.

In voting amendments No. 1 and No. 2, Campbell citizens proved their town a dry town, by a slight margin of votes. The amendment for the repeal of the Wright act was opposed by 547 voters and backed by 526 voters. The state liquor regulation amendment was opposed by 552 voters and assented to by 547.

In the county as a whole, on the other hand, the amendments both carried; the first received 33,823 votes to 21,560 opposition votes; the second received 30,868 assenting votes to 22,897 opposing votes. The state of California proved itself even more overwhelmingly in favor of repeal of the Wright act and of liquor regulation.

With reference to the other amendments Campbell citizens voted much as did their neighbors. They defeated the trust deeds amendment, the racing measure, and the highway taxes amendment. The measure for transfer of school taxes was voted down by a three to one vote. The jail bonds were also defeated by a vote of 679 no's against a vote of 263 ayes.

CHIMNEY FIRE AT CORREA HOME IS QUICKLY PUT OUT

Campbell's second fire in six months, a chimney fire, at the home of Mrs. W. Correa, Dillon avenue, Tuesday night, did no damage because of prompt action of the local volunteer fire squad.

The fire siren, screaming its alarm at six in the exening aroused most the town's residents, who ran for the fire but returned almost immediately when it was speedily extinguished.

Schools will not be in session Armistice day. The high school will close for the holiday; the gram mar school has been closed all week because of the influenza epedemic.

POULTRY CLASS AT HIGH SCHOOL FOR CHICKEN RAISERS

Poultry diseases were discussed at the public poultry school held in the Campbell high school annex Wednesday night, under the leadership of Fred E. Long, agriculture instructor.

Methods for treatments and cures for ailing birds were explained. Mrs. R. Amstutuz of the Meridian hatchery demonstrated blood testing of laying hens to determine if they are carriers of white diarrhea.

The burning method for cleaning poultry equipment to control coccidiosis was explained by G. R. Newcomb, experienced poultry raiser.

Poultry meetings will be held at the high school on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

A MISDEAL

That the voters of the United States do not know wherein lies their security was clearly indicated in Tuesday's national election. With Franklin D. Roosevelt firmly in the saddle, and with a Democratic congress to hold him on his horse, the future does not look any too bright for America's major industries which depend upon tariff protection against the competition of cheap foreign labor.

We may be regarded in some circles as poor losers. That, however, is not the case. We would not care so much had the reigns of power fallen into competent hands. The Democratic party is a comparatively unknown quantity. We have no faith in their ability to finish the rehabilitation program started by President Hoover—unless, of course, he is able to get it past the toddling stage before the Democrats assume the direction of tthe government.

Our last Democratic president, Wilson, was in a fair way to put the skids under the steel and other important industries, but the war came along and saved them. It is to be hoped that another war won't be necessary to bring prosperity under the impending Democratic regime.

ANOTHER ELECTION

Now that the national election is a thing of the past, people of this community had better turn their attention to another contest. Vitally important is the approaching school board election, and one which should be carefully considered by every voter in the Campbell Union High school and the Campbell Union Grammar school districts.

It is here presumed that forces unfriendly to the proper education of our youth will again seek to sieze control of the local schools, and, should success crown their efforts, we are apt to one day witness the abandonment of our high school, and see our model grammar school descend into the pit of mediocrity.

We all have seen what concentrated effort can do at the polls. It is up to the progressive element to organize, and promote, at all costs, a progressive school board. Education is becoming one of the chief industries of the valley, walking hand in hand with the home industry. If we do not want them both to pass us by, we must maintain, and eventually better, our local school facilities.

PRUNING IS SCIENTIFIC

In a recent address, Governor Olson of Minnesota pointed out the need for governmental econmy, and then said: "However, at the present time we should guard carefully the way in which government costs are reduced. If they are cut down in a frenzy, in a mood of passionate despair, in a temper of revenge, then indeed is the spoilsman likely to flourish and the technician and expert be cut off."

In other words, tax reduction must be accomplished sceintifically. The kind of tax reduction that eliminates good men and necessary work damages the cause it espouses.

The kind of tax reduction we need is that which cuts away some of the maze of bureaus that has grown up in recent times, principally since the war, each with its long list of employees. They are anchored around the necks of tax payers who are trying to swim through harsh waters.

These growths and long lists might well be compared to the dead wood and suckers the scientific orchardist must yearly prune from his tree. Our governmental pruning must be done just as scientifically, so that what remains is the trunk and the roots and the sturdy growth of years with the life-sapping overgrowth trimmed clean.

LONG PULL OUT OF THE RED

A certain percentage of American farmers refrain from joining cooperatives because those organizations haven't been able to bring prices back to former high levels or solve various other problems perplexing agriculture.

The success of the whole cooperative movement must depend on the long pull—not on a temporary success of the moment, but on the eventual development of a strong loyally supported and adequately financed concern which can achieve a fair deal for the farmer all the time.

There are times when the individual farmer can get a better price for his produce by selling it independently, instead of through a cooperative—but the dollars made that way are dearly won indeed. The middleman who offers higher prices to so-called "independents" in an effort to wreck the cooperatives, are not the farmers' hope for the future. Every farmer who deserts a worthy cooperative is ismply delaying permanent agricultural progress.

The cotton growers of the south, the milk producers of New York, other producers of other sections, have found the value of cooperation. The fundamental principle behind the movement represents sound economics and sound sociology too. It can bring the farmer out of the red.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

With the flu-enforced vacations at present in effect in many school districts there are more youngsters playing about the streets than usual. Motorists have become accustomed to the idea of having children out of the way during school hours. Be extraordinarily careful for the next week or two, not only here, but elsewhere in the state. Influenza is no respecter of localities.

THE FARMERS CORNER

By Ralph H. Taylor

All government, like Gaul, can be divided into three parts: necessary, desirable, and plainly political, in the opinion of State Controller Ray L. Riley, watchdog of the California treasury and one of the leaders in the fight for governmental retrenchment.

The "necessary" and "desirable" functions of government, Riley believes, are both justified under normal conditions, but the spread of the purely "desirable", not absolutely essential functions, should always be subjected to a tight check-rein.

And government should be sufficiently flexible, the controller declares, to make possible the speedy elimination of merely desirable appendages in periods of financial stress when there is an imperative need for rigid econmy and reduced taxation.

Government's third dimension: the plainly political, often achieved by the glorification of unimportant bureaus and agencies into full-fledged departments to create fat jobs for political camp followers is entirely without justification during any period, asserts Riley. It is one of the vicious by-products of the "easy money" era and relaxed public vigilance.

California farmers, in desperate need of tax relief, can well afford to give careful study to the basic principles laid down by Controller Riley.

Riley believes, and there is undoubted merit in the belief, that California citizens, if they wish to achieve lasting economy in government, must get down to fundamentals--acquire a sound political philosophy. Instead of slashing desperately during periods of extremity, and disregarding government during periods of prosperity, they should determine:

1. What they need and must have—the absolute essentials of an orderly society.

2. What they want, but could get along without, and whether they can afford it.

3. And, finally, the necessary measures for effecting the type of sane, business-like government they have determined upon.

Only by this manner of intelligent, rational approach to the problem, says the controller, can there be any guarantee of economy which will be actually econimical. Too often, under the hit-or-miss plan of cuts, he finds that necessary government suffers, while the merely desirable and the plainly political wings remain intact, or at least are only mildly modified.

As major steps toward making government more flexible, to permit clearing the decks of all unnecessary expenditures during periods of emergency, the controller is planning to have introduced at the next legislative session two constitutional amendments.

One of these proposals would abolish all fixed charges—items voted into the constitution or into the statutes by the people and impossible of curtailment when there is a demand for retrenchment. Such charges now comprise a major share of all governmental costs.

The controller's second suggestion, bearing closely on the first, is that the legislature have sole power to levy taxes. This would permit of reduction in the costs of any branch of government simply by legislative vote, without waiting to submit the question to the people.

And, equally important, he also will seek to have the next legislature take account of stock and determine, in part at least, which branches of government are necessary, which are desirable, providing the money is available, and which are plainly political and undesirable.

Early Mail Rates

In the times of Benjamin Franklin letters were charged for by the sheet instead of by weight, and also for the distance carried. Ten cents was charged for one sheet, 20 cents for two sheets, and so on, and for every 50 miles another full fee was added. Envelopes were not used in those days, the letter simply being folded up and sealed.

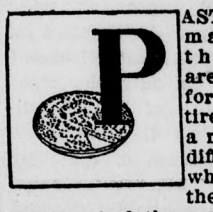
Zwieback Pie Is Colorful And Novel



PASTRY cooks, marvelous as their creations are, often sigh for something entirely original and completely different, with which to startle the family or guests. And there are those, pastry-making being an art, who are still trying to achieve rich flaky crust, and would shout with joy to find something giving the effect of pastry, and yet not so difficult. The recipe given here satisfies both expert and beginner—is sure to surprise and please those to whom it is served. Zwieback pie! The very name suggests the flavors and colors of fine German cookery.

The recipe when tested produced a fine golden brown crust—just like the beauty of the zwieback itself; and bright yellow cream filling in contrast to the white meringue decorated with zwieback mixture on the top. The cream filling, always a success with evaporated milk, provides the exactly right consistency. Be careful not to overcook the filling.

Zwieback Pie

Crust	Filling
1 box zwieback (2 cups ground)	3 egg yolks
½ cup butter	½ cup sugar
¾ cup brown sugar	½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon	1 tsp. vanilla
	1 tbsp. cornstarch
Meringue	1 cup evaporated milk
3 egg whites	1 cup water
6 tbsp. sugar

Cream together butter and brown sugar. Add cinnamon and zwieback and blend thoroughly. Cover bottom of large deep pie tin with part of mixture and reserve rest for top of pie.

Blend sugar, salt and cornstarch. Add boiling water and boil until thick and transparent, stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks, add milk and stir slowly into starch mixture. Cook until mixture hangs from spoon. Add vanilla and pour into zwieback crust. Cover with meringue and top with remainder of zwieback mixture. Bake in a moderate oven until brown. Yield: 8 servings.

If the family is blasé about pie, and many are, they will hardly believe their palates when they try this.

Claim Persimmon Tree Native of New England

It is not generally known that the persimmon tree is a native of New England, having been found apparently wild in Rhode Island and Connecticut. It is much better known and more beautiful down South, where it is an orchard tree.

Unfortunately it is not hardy enough around Boston to produce the fruit, although it is fairly common here and prized for its leafage and flowers. It is looked upon as one of the most promising of American native trees as a subject for experimentation and improvement.

"The wood of the American persimmon is hard and close grained, and the so-called heartwood, which is so slow in forming that a hundred years may pass before it is definitely developed, becomes almost black in some old individuals," says J. G. Black in the Arnold Arboretum bulletin. "It is from trees of this genus, which is known to include from 175 to 200 named species, that the ebony of commerce is derived, particularly from the variety found in India and Ceylon and in the Dutch East Indies."

The persimmon in the north, here in America, often passes unnoticed among many other trees of different families, but with somewhat similar foliage. The bark is dark gray or brown tinged with red, and is deeply divided into thick, square plates.—Boston Globe.

The Unanswered Letter

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

(Suggested by G. M., Springfield, Mass.)

THE mailman comes, the mailman goes,
The postman passes by,
And some one only can suppose,
And wait, and wonder why.
Today no letter, and tonight
A silence hard to bear.
We wonder if they cannot write,
Or simply do not care?

The little note is laid away,
The letter put aside,
Yet some one hoped to hear today
An answering voice denied.
You may be busy, well we know,
So many things you're at.
You may be busy—are you, though,
As busy as all that?

Oh, keep the tree of friendship green
When friends are far apart.
How much a word of yours may mean
To cheer some absent heart!
The rose unwatered droops and dies,
Yes, dies in some sad hour;
The letter that unanswered lies
Is love's unwatered flow'r.

We're Queer Folks

Cat Resembles Kangaroo

Camden, Tenn.—A cat at the home of G. M. Spence here has features and characteristics resembling those of a kangaroo—rear feet larger and longer than fore feet, leaps like a kangaroo, using its short, heavy tail for balance and propeller, and sits like a kangaroo.

There is one enemy against which spider cunning and ferocity cannot contend—a little blue wasp. Finding the door ajar, the wasp swoops down, stuns the doorkeeper with a stab of its sting, then leaves a calling card in the form of an egg among the living blobs of jelly in the silken hammock and disappears. From the wasp egg comes a grub, which devours the baby spiders, whereupon in that subterranean chamber it spins a cocoon around itself and metamorphoses, under protection of the murdered mother spider's trapdoor, into a blue wasp that will repeat its mother's performance on another trapdoor spider.

Narrow Thoroughfare

The narrowest street in the United States is said to be Treasary street in St. Augustine, Fla. It is 6 feet 1 inch wide. This street was shown as a street on the map of St. Augustine in 1737, and called Treasury street because the old treasury was on the corner of this cross street and St. George street. Carriages used to drive through it, and a stone was placed at the entrance on Bay street to prevent this. The old treasury building is still standing.

Useful, material things which are not appropriated do not come under the head of wealth. Rain, wind, clouds, the Gulf stream, the heavenly bodies, are all useful and all material, but are not directly appropriated, and so are not rated to be wealth as commonly understood.

W. E. Higgins

Architect

This architect of proven ability has his office at 19 North Second Street in San Jose. There are many examples of his work throughout this territory which will prove to you that he is a real expert in his chosen profession. These buildings are not only convenient for their special purposes, but characterize unity, grandeur and beauty which only a master workman can produce. The artistic ability and dependable advice of this careful architect have met with the universal approval of all who have had business dealings with him.

You should be very careful in your selection of an architect, for in the present age of improper construction and substitution, it is essential that you employ architects whose plans and ideas conform with the modern building codes. This is very true for if a window or stair case is misplaced it may ruin much of the beauty and convenience of the building.

It is also essential that the best of material be specified and the construction itself be properly executed.

This reliable architect can draw plans for anything you might have in mind and also has many drawings which would be very suggestive and help you to decide upon a particular design. His service is most complete and in the designing of schools, bank buildings, office or business blocks, or any other type of public or semi-public buildings, he is very efficient. He thoroughly understands architecture and can supply you with the designs you desire.

His specifications are accurately and scientifically correct as he is very conversant with the correct and best materials for building.

In this business review it is a pleasure for us to recommend Wm. E. Higgins to our readers as an architect worthy of their consideration.

Favorite Recipes of a Famous Chef

As Told to Anne Baker
By FREDERIC FRANCOIS GUILLOT
Chef, Hotel Astor, New York City

As a means of adding a bit of variety to the menu, Mr. Guillot suggests these two new ways of preparing carrots and beets.

Chef Guillot

Golden Mountain — Scrape and boil until tender enough young carrots to make two cups when mashed. Mash thoroughly and add two well-beaten eggs, one-fourth cup cream, one teaspoon sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Place in well-buttered mold. Stand in pan of hot water and bake until firm in a moderate oven. Turn out on platter and surround with cooked peas.

Savory Beets—Boil one-half dozen medium size beets until tender. In the meanwhile, mix together two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon grated onion, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of nutmeg. Cook for five minutes. Peel and slice the beets. Arrange in serving dish and pour the sauce over them.

"Howdy" Wilcox To Pilot Fast Car In Oakland Race

Oakland, Nov. 10—"Howdy"Wilcox's chances for winning the 1932 auto racing championship of the nation received a great boost today when it became known that he would pilot Deacon Litz's Bowes Seal Fast special in the national championship race at the Oakland speedway next Sunday afternoon.

Wilcox was originally nominated to tool "Shorty" Cantlon's Lion Head special but Linn Mathewson, manager of the Oakland speedway, this morning received word from Los Angeles that a shift had been made.

The mount which "Howdy" will pilot is the same one that Mauri Rose of Dayton, Ohio, drove to victory in the last national championship classic in the east. It is said to be much faster than the other car and as a consequence predictions are that Wilcox will go places and do things with it.

Cantlon will return to the racing sport after a lay off of omre than a year, Mathewson said. In 1931 he went through the fence at Phoenix, Ariz., and spent many weeks in the hospital. He wrecked his car but when this was repaired he asked Wilcox to race it for him.

Last spring "Howdy" piloted it on the Oakland and Ascot speedways and when he went to Indianapolis Memorial Day had its one-man body replaced by a two-seater. There he surprised everybody by finishing second in it, being only 48 seconds behind Fred Frame, the winner, the closest finish in the history of Indianapolis.

IT COSTS LESS TO KEEP THEM WELL
when your home is heated with Natural Gas

Women used to dread rainy days! When the weather kept the children indoors they were bound to become restless, playing about the house first in warm rooms then in cold. It was too much to expect of a busy mother to keep up a furnace-fire that gave whole-house warmth. But that was before Controlled Gas heating was available.

Today there is no excuse for part of the house being cold and part of it warm. Today there is no need either for bothersome fire-tending. Controlled Heat by Natural Gas is a truly carefree system of househeating that assures even "Comfort Zone" warmth in every room, regardless of the weather. Clean, quick-acting heat flows from Natural Gas heating equipment at a finger's touch on an electric button, key or automatic thermostat.

Once Controlled Heat was labelled with a high-cost price tag. Only the wealthy could afford it. Today, the low cost of Natural Gas heating equipment makes Controlled Heat available to thousands who have always wanted it but thought they could not afford it. Investigate this modern Natural Gas heating equipment at your local dealer's store or at the P. G. and E. Do it today—right now.

CONTROLLED HEAT
With gas fuel you can have maximum heat instantly available and keep it regulated to any temperature desired. Controlled heat from gas heating equipment is possible by merely turning a valve or handle, by pressing a button to get high, low or medium heat, or by setting an electric thermostat to automatically maintain any desired temperature.

High School Notes

By Francis Smith

At a business meeting of the Girls' league Thursday, at which Lois Bachman presided, Thelma Rhoten told of the Girls' league convention held in the Polytechnic high school at San Francisco. Violet Rhoten told of the topics discussed by various schools, social service, girls' assemblies, big and little sisters, and social activities.

That the local league treasury contained $16.33 was announced by Gladys Nelson, treasurer. Joan Hughes read a letter from Luis Amada.

A vivid lecture was given to the students at an assembly Tuesday by Sheik Emanuel of Chaldea, Mesopotamia, who appeared in his native costume.

By Joan Hughes

The girls of Campbell Union high school have once again demonstrated their fighting spirit—this time in athletics. This week a hockey sport-day was held at Campbell to which San Jose and Los Gatos were invited. The Campbell high school teams have a great respect for the ability of the teams from San Jose and Los Gatos, and a hard, close scrap was anticipated. The girls were not disappointed, for the visiting teams put up a good fight. But through a series of brilliant plays and smooth teamwork, colored by that spirit of good clean sportsmanship, which all League girls exhibit, Campbell came out victorious, the opposing teams scoring no points at all.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH NOTES

Next Sunday morning will be used in remembrance of Armistice day. Mr. Bennett will not preach a war sermon. That is negative and cannot stimulate the heart to seek for peace. Real peace must come from the lives of the people of the world, in which quest the Christian is the leader. Mr. Bennett will speak on the thought of "Peace Like A River" at the 11 a. m. service. He will also conduct evening worship for those who are unable to attend in the morning.

The Scout party which was postponed from last Thursday on account of the many boys who were sick will be held this Thursday at 7 p. m. Mrs. W. I. Merrill and Mrs. J. W. Knowles will be in charge of the eats. The boys are warned not to enjoy too hearty a supper, as the weinie roast will come on early—to be followed by other fillers. Games will be enjoyed.
